

Bug Hotel

Building a Bug Hotel is a fantastic way to invite insects who would benefit from a shelter, especially in the winter months coming up. Some bugs may use it for hibernation.

To make your bug hotel, you can find most of the things you will need to build it in your garden. If you have any bricks, slate, logs or wooden structures, you can use these to build the main frame of your hotel. Insects like layers, if you can make one with some height. Use different natural materials like, leaves, grass, twigs, pinecones and bits of bark. Put these through the layers, creating a warm, dry space for your new bug friends.

Why don't you keep a record of all the different bugs and insects that you see coming to stay in your bug hotel.
